Promoting a premier economic city
and a future strategic capital

DAEJEON SEJONG RESEARCH INSTITUTE

Greetings

Welcome to the Daejeon Sejong Research Institute. I am Young-Jin Kim, the president.

Our 20-year history began in March 2001 when we were founded as the Daejeon Development Institute. Since then, we have grown and changed our roles and organizational setup to become the Daejeon Sejong Research Institute in 2016.

Based on our vision of "a knowledge platform leading a first-class economic city and future strategic capital," we have three goals: creating proactive strategies to confront the future, conducting tailored research that citizens can relate to, and fostering an innovative and creative community.

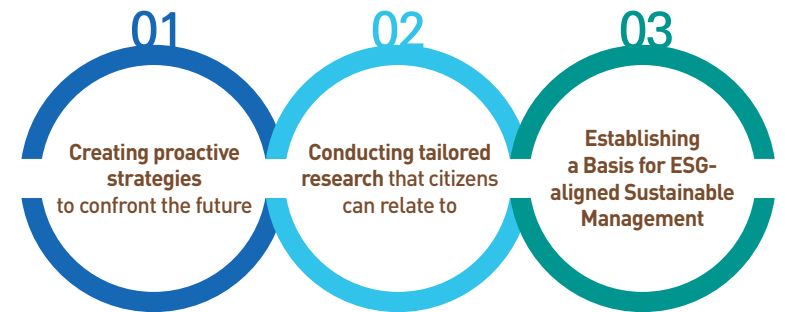

By outlining a plan for the joint growth of the two cities, Daejeon and Sejong, we at the Daejeon Sejong Research Institute hope to actualize competitive cities that raise the happiness and esteem of their residents. Also, as a think tank for the development of megacities in the Chungcheong region, we will lead in laying the groundwork for collaboration and solidarity in the region by formulating policies that support shared growth and balanced national development.

In addition, we will promote an organizational culture of mutual trust through communication by establishing a fair and transparent management system, making it a proud and rewarding workplace.

We anticipate your ongoing support and interest.

Thank you.

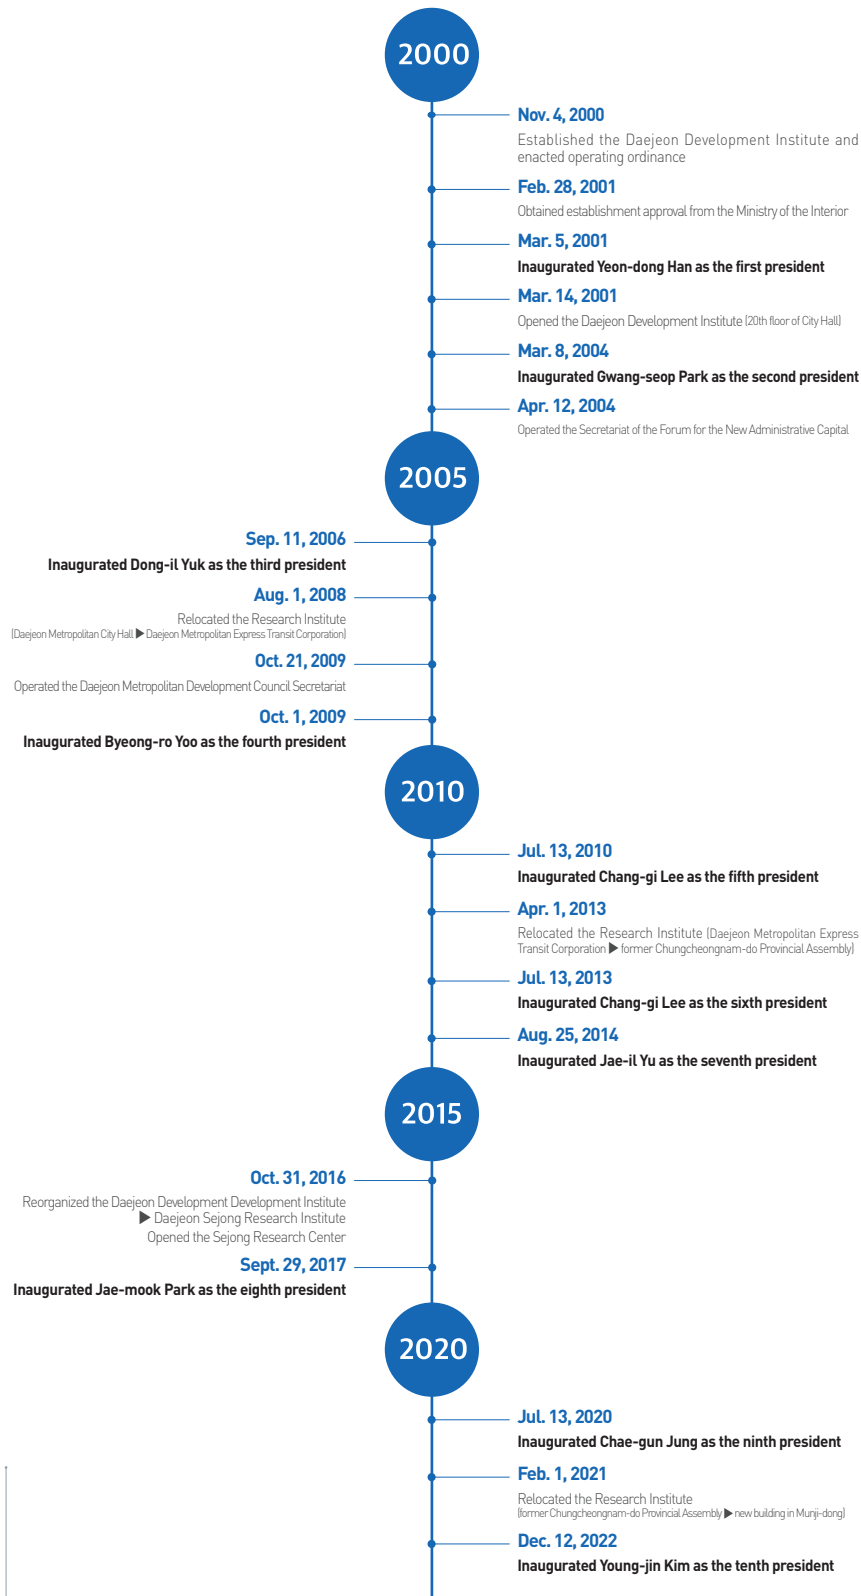

Young-Jin Kim
President of Daejeon Sejong Research Institute

Acting as an integrated knowledge platform

The Daejeon Sejong Research Institute strives to expand cooperation networks across boundaries to create a regional development strategy.

Policy Expo

It is an event where policies related to Daejeon and Sejong are intensively discussed, and new policies are discovered to be reflected in city administration.

Signing Business Agreements

We have established conditions for more effective research and policy development in key areas by signing business agreements with universities and other regional research institutions.

Vitalizing Cross-Cutting Research Centered on Cooperation and Convergence

Through joint research encompassing Daejeon and Sejong, we create values that lead to mutual benefits and cooperation.

Seminar on the Direction of the 8th and 4th Civic Administrations

We held seminars in Daejeon and Sejong to explore ways to promote successful policies in both cities with the inauguration of the 8th and 4th civic administrations.

International Conferences

We continue to invite international experts to hold academic symposiums on various topics such as disaster management, urban water management, regional innovation, citizen sovereignty, and regional governance.

Daejeon-Sejong Regional Studies Research Forum

A research forum with 30 regional studies experts was organized and run under the direction of the Daejeon Sejong Regional Studies Research Center, an affiliate organization of the Institute, to establish the regional identity of Daejeon and Sejong and to lay the groundwork for mutually beneficial cooperation between the two cities.

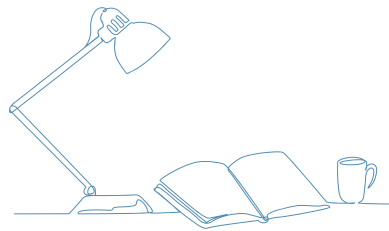

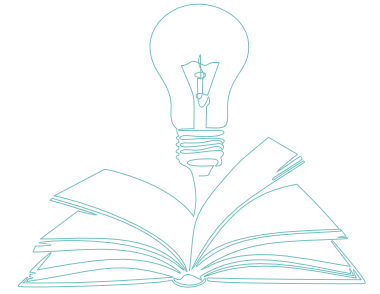

Daesedadam Forum

We invite specialists to engage the community in new local conversations on various Daejeon- and Sejong-related topics while generating policy proposals.

Major Tasks and Research Projects

We contribute to regional development by systematically examining and analyzing issues pertaining to municipal administration, for instance fostering balanced growth between Daejeon and Sejong, enhancing the regional economy, and promoting social development. We also propose practical policy options that address these challenges.

Offices

Office of Planning and Coordination

The office prepares and coordinates research projects, chooses projects and assesses outcomes, engages in public relations, produces publications, manages archives, and organizes academic events and research exchange projects.

Urban Information Center

By building a database specific to Daejeon and Sejong, developing indicators, and monitoring them, the Urban Information Center assists Daejeon and Sejong in securing the logic required to formulate and promote policies. It also plays a role in quickly and accurately supplying information to Daejeon and Sejong.

Economic and Social Research Division

The office conducts a wide range of studies on women, families, welfare, culture, and tourism to enhance the quality of life for the residents of Daejeon. Additionally, it researches and analyzes local financial, budgetary, and human resource management strategies of local administrative bodies and gives projections. It also studies local economic growth and industrial promotion policies.

Spatial & Environmental Planning Division

The office undertakes research to plan, discover, and professionally assist urban planning, transportation planning, and environmental planning policies in order to produce sustainable urban development and new spatial environments.

Department of Sejong City Policy Research

The office performs policy research for the Sejong Special Self-Governing City and the Sejong Metropolitan Area, which includes creating innovative policies, identifying important concerns, and investigating present issues.

Sejong City Balanced National Development Support Center

The center was established under the ordinance on the establishment and operation of the balanced national development support center in Sejong city. This center is an organization supporting Sejong, the leader of balanced national development, in policy research and issue management for Sejong to be born as future strategic capital city, and cooperate for the growth as a practical administrative capital city.

Office of Administration and Finance

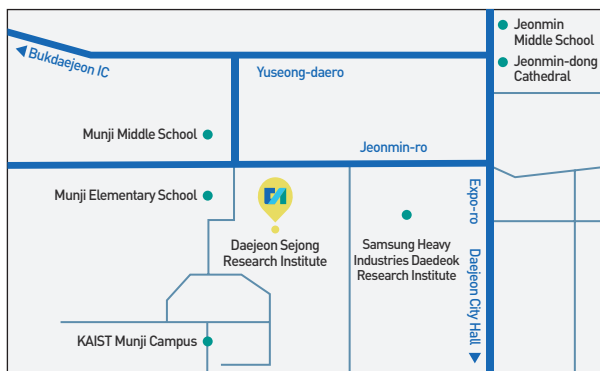

By naturally fusing research and administration, the office supports the Institute's growth into a top-tier research institution and the organization, people, budget, accounting, and property management for effective research activity.

The Daejeon Sejong Research Institute is committed to proactively proposing forward-looking medium and long-term strategies by conducting various studies on the municipal management of Daejeon and Sejong. As a think tank for the two cities, we will do our best to conduct studies that will raise the standard of living for local citizens of Daejeon and Sejong based on our dedication to municipal development.
